“AT REALOGY, OUR BUSINESS HELPS PEOPLE REALIZE THEIR FUTURE.”

MOVING OUR WORLD TO WHAT’S NEXT

If you’ve ever bought or sold a home, you may have an idea of the many important moments, large and small, that transform a dream of the future into a reality. The promise of the “for sale” sign in a front lawn. The spark of possibility behind the first twist of a key in a front door. These are the moments that move us, moments we are incredibly lucky to create, every day, as the leading and largest residential real estate company in the United States.

At Realogy, our business helps people realize their future, one front door at a time. The homesale transaction truly moves the world - changing communities, creating stability, and building a foundation of opportunity for generations to come. We have long recognized our role as a change-maker not only for our customers, but also for the employees, affiliated agents and brokers, and communities we serve. Over the years, we have paved a path for progress that we continue to expand and enhance.
IN 2021, WE ADVANCED THIS COMMITMENT IN SEVERAL WAYS:

GOVERNANCE

Ethics and integrity are the cornerstones of our culture. In 2021, Realogy was honored as one of the World’s Most Ethical Companies® for the 10th consecutive year – a nod that less than one-quarter of honorees achieved. We also reinforced our commitment with a 2021 update to Realogy’s Code of Ethics, which serves as a guiding principle for our organization.

Since going public in 2012, Realogy has implemented strong corporate governance practices, which we have enhanced and developed over time, and we continue to develop our Board Outreach Program, offer robust corporate governance disclosures, and incorporate shareholder feedback into our activities. In March 2021, we welcomed Felicia Williams, Macy’s Fellow for CEO Action for Racial Equity and one of Savoy Magazine’s 2021 Most Influential Black Board Members, to our Board of Directors.

SOCIAL

Realogy is a longtime champion for social progress. We were early to establish diversity as a bedrock of our culture and develop a focus on democratizing homeownership for all by increasing diverse representation in real estate.

• Culture: In 2021, we launched Real Career Connections, a new mentorship program for employees of color; established commitments to attract and retain diverse talent; and identified new opportunities to advance equity and inclusion in a hybrid culture through virtual events.

• Community: Realogy creates opportunity for underrepresented populations through careers in real estate, helping our industry better reflect the dynamic communities we serve. In 2021, we expanded both our Inclusive Ownership Program, which encourages entrepreneurs from underrepresented communities to franchise with one of Realogy’s brands via financial investment and mentorship support, and What Moves Her, an initiative designed to inspire more women real estate professionals. We also extended access to our Fair Housing Training Course to others in our industry.

• Commitment: We continue to build upon our culture of inclusion through diversity and inclusion committees across the enterprise and eight diverse Employee Resource Groups. In 2021, we further aligned our DE&I efforts across the enterprise by unifying under singular leadership to develop more cohesive and impactful diversity, equity, and inclusion strategies as we work to create a more inclusive and equitable workplace for everyone.

ENVIRONMENT

Although we do not manufacture products or own significant real property, we’re conscious about how our business impacts the world around us. We believe there are positive environmental benefits to some of our recent business moves, such as the transformation of Realogy’s Madison, N.J., headquarters office to an open-plan innovation hub, which is slated for completion in 2022; the significant transition to remote work for approximately half of our employees; and the increased digitization of elements of the homesale transaction for affiliated agents and brokers. These moves not only transform the working dynamic for our teams but also support our efforts to be mindful of our environmental impact.

As a moving force in real estate, we have the power to shape the future of our industry and change the trajectory of tomorrow.

It’s precisely why we are focused on moving our business, our industry, and the world to what’s next.

Ryan Schneider
Realogy Chief Executive Officer and President

Realogy has long been a beacon of integrity, a commitment driven by our core values and upheld in all we do – especially as we embraced new ways of working in 2021. Our transparent and honest approach to conducting business earns us the trust and respect of customers, franchise owners, affiliated agents, suppliers, and each other.
BOARD ENGAGEMENT

Our Board of Directors oversees the management and ethics functions of the Company. Realogy has strong governance practices that we continue to enhance and evolve.

Feedback from investors is critical in guiding our governance practices. For the fourth year in a row, our Board of Directors continued to seek out perspectives of our stockholders with the 2021 Investor Outreach Program, which allows the Board to engage directly with stockholders on key topics, including strategy, leadership, governance, and compensation.

Through this feedback, our Board and its committees have made meaningful changes to our executive compensation program and corporate governance structure, such as adopting proxy access and the elimination of supermajority stockholder approval requirements for stockholder changes to our Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws.

LEADING WITH INTEGRITY

Realogy’s Code of Ethics and core values serve as our guiding principles to treat people with respect and dignity, to be accountable for our actions, and to operate transparently and honestly. Our employees live by these principles and help build our Company’s reputation with every interaction.

Each of us, individually and collectively, is responsible for maintaining our shared commitment to business integrity and our hard-earned reputation for winning the right way. We should take great pride in our accomplishments and continue to strive to raise the bar.

Shacara Delgado, Realogy Senior Vice President, Employment Law, and Chief Ethics and Compliance Officer
OUR CORE VALUES BEGIN AND END WITH OUR PEOPLE

This year, Realogy refreshed its Code of Ethics and the companion Key Employment Policies to address substantive legal changes, incorporate evolving business requirements, and reflect best practice standards. ETHICS AND COMPLIANCE IN A REMOTE ENVIRONMENT—MODELING RESILIENCE

In these uncertain times, Realogy dedicated many resources to address the impact of COVID-19 on the Company and on our employees. Throughout the year, Realogy worked to ensure the health and safety of our employees who were asked to return to our offices, as well as our remote employees. We were careful to balance business needs and priorities with individual safety and health concerns, as well as myriad related issues, such as employee anxiety, fear, depression, household issues, caregiver concerns and school/camp closures. To address employee concerns, we engaged our manager population to ensure they practiced and encouraged communication, empathy, understanding, and flexibility. We equipped our managers, through training and communication, with guidance on how to maintain an “open door” environment, listen and support their teams, be open to accommodation requests, handle tough questions in these difficult times, and encourage a speak-up culture.

We continued to remind employees to take time off for their mental health, knowing that high performing companies and programs go beyond the minimum required by law or regulation.

ANNUAL ETHICS AND COMPLIANCE TRAINING

Realogy launched its annual ethics and compliance training with the following mandatory courses for all employees: Winning with Integrity; Information Management; and Global Information Security.

Select employee groups were also required to complete Global Data Protection and Preventing Global Modern Slavery.

As of January 2021, Realogy achieved 100% completion of mandatory all-employee training launched in 2020.

POLICIES AGAINST SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Realogy is committed to ensuring that slavery and human trafficking do not exist in any part of our business or in our supply chain. We believe in operating with the highest ethical standards and respect for human rights everywhere. We understand that, despite universal laws condemning the practice, modern slavery and human trafficking still occur and that every company must do its part to ensure that slavery does not play a role in its products or services.

NEW FOR 2021:

Realogy revised the Slavery and Human Trafficking Statement to detail the Company’s actions to implement enhanced protections against modern slavery in our operations and supply chain. Updates to the Statement address increased governmental focus on human trafficking.

WORLD’S MOST ETHICAL COMPANIES®

For the 10th consecutive year, Realogy was named one of the World’s Most Ethical Companies 2021. Only one quarter of the 2021 honorees achieved a prestigious decade of recognition for their commitment to integrity, acknowledgment of the importance of leadership, and resilience in making hard but values-based decisions.

Realogy was one of just 135 companies spanning 22 countries and 47 industries honored by Ethisphere, and one of only four honorees in the real estate industry. Companies achieving the distinction have met rigorous criteria across five categories: the quality of their ethics and compliance program, organizational culture, corporate citizenship and responsibility, governance, and leadership and reputation.

“Ten years of operating with integrity is no small feat, especially while addressing the tough challenges of 2020. Realogy reached this milestone in a year when earning trust was more important than ever and remained steadfast in its ongoing commitment to ethics and integrity.”

Timothy Erblich, Ethisphere Chief Executive Officer

2021 FORBES WORLD’S TOP FEMALE-FRIENDLY COMPANIES

Realogy was named one of Forbes Magazine’s World’s Top Female-Friendly Companies 2021. Based on direct feedback from female employees, the designation honors the Company’s commitment to supporting women in business. It comes at a time when women in the workforce continue to be disproportionately impacted by the pandemic, resulting in the U.S. Labor Department’s lowest reported labor-force participation rates among women in the U.S. since the 1970s.
Realogy has long served as a champion for inclusion and diverse representation in real estate. As the largest player in our industry, we have consistently focused on opening doors to homeownership, entrepreneurship, and career opportunities to help all communities own their future. We continue to advance these goals by building upon our early success and innovating programs and initiatives that help drive progress.
REINFORCING OUR COMMITMENT IN 2021

In 2021, Realogy welcomed Ivonne Furneaux to steer the Company’s Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DE&I) strategy, amplifying our mission to empower change through her leadership of DE&I initiatives across the Company’s employee, franchise owner, and affiliated agent populations.

Ivonne brings a wealth of experience cultivating sustainable and impactful DE&I strategies, and her vision will help Realogy further expand and amplify our efforts to create a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive landscape both within our Company and across the real estate industry.

The possibilities at the intersection of real estate and DE&I are limitless. From driving entrepreneurship and enabling homeownership to empowering careers and building an inclusive workforce that represents the communities we serve, we have a tremendous opportunity to drive meaningful change. I’m honored and excited to join Realogy and advance the great work already in motion as we drive even more impact in the company, the industry and beyond.

Ivonne Furneaux, Realogy Vice President, Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
REAL ESTATE HELPS REALIZE THE AMERICAN DREAM

Realogy, with unparalleled scale, trusted brands, and the power of affiliated agents, recognizes our role in the journey to equitable homeownership.

Homeownership is one of the most impactful ways to build wealth and advance communities. One home can impact a family’s wealth for generations. Yet, underrepresented communities are still facing barriers to homeownership. According to the U.S. Census, in 2020, compared to 74.4% of white families (non-Hispanic), only 43.1% of Black families, 48.4% of Hispanic (any race) families, and 61.2% of Asian, Native Hawaiian, and Pacific Islander families owned their own home.

BUT THESE COMMUNITIES ARE READY TO BECOME HOMEOWNERS IN GROWING NUMBERS:

- Between 2030 and 2040, Latinos will account for 58.7% of new household formations, according to the National Association of Hispanic Real Estate Professionals (NAHREP).
- One of the fastest growing communities, the Asian American community has a housing rate of 60.6%, while the Pacific Islander housing rate in the U.S. is 40.1% according to the Asian American Real Estate Association (AAREA).
- The LGBTQ+ community wields an estimated $1 trillion in global financial power, yet has a homeownership rate of just 49% in the U.S., according to the LGBTQ+Real Estate Alliance.
- Black millennials contributed to more than 2 percentage points of the increase in homeownership among all Black homeowners during the first three quarters of 2020, according to the National Association of Real Estate Brokers.
REPRESENTATION IN REAL ESTATE MATTERS
Realogy encourages entrepreneurship as a tool to advance careers, build wealth, and create a more inclusive industry, with a focus on welcoming a more diverse population of professionals to better represent the vibrant and dynamic communities we serve.

DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION NETWORK
Realogy’s Diversity and Inclusion Networks are externally focused, market-based membership networks that meet regularly to engage and recruit diverse agents through events, marketing, and education.

Realogy fully supports the principles of the Fair Housing Act (Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968). Consistent with Realogy’s vision as a global real estate services leader, the Company believes all prospective homeowners and renters should have access to housing without discrimination – without discrimination, across the industry and for all real estate professionals.

At Realogy, we believe our environmental footprint is small; however we understand our operations can affect the environment and are committed to effectively mitigating these impacts and continuing to enhance our efforts as we shift to a hybrid workplace.
OUR PROPERTIES
Substantially all of Realogy’s properties are leased commercial space; we do not own any material property. From 2017 to 2021, we decreased our leased-office footprint by approximately 19%.

This year, Realogy created a Facilities Advisory Board made up of members across our business units and corporate functions that meet quarterly to discuss sustainability best practices and goals.

HOME TO HUB
Realogy is adopting a hybrid approach for corporate talent as we continue to redefine the future of work, transitioning to a “Home to Hub” work environment where employees have the freedom and flexibility to determine where and how they work to best meet and exceed their goals.

Realogy is also redesigning its Madison, N.J., office, and other corporate offices to serve as collaboration, innovation, and showcase hubs where employees can meet to brainstorm, solve challenges, and lead into the future. With a newly renovated space, we made strategic decisions to conserve energy and recycle materials through our building plans and during construction.

The reimagined hub space also embraces accessibility for employees and visitors with disabilities, with all event rooms featuring hearing aid loops, a new feature.
SUSTAINABILITY IN DESIGN

REDUCE:
• As employees define their own schedules and minimize the need for traditional cubicle and office spaces, Realogy is able to streamline its office footprint to one floor designed to welcome approximately 200 transitional employees each day, instead of the approximately 1,000 employees designated to static spaces in the traditional office design – helping to reducing energy consumption and commuter emissions

REUSE:
• Realogy strategically approached the renovation as a “surgical demolition,” through which elements of the office were preserved for re-use in other spaces
• All of Realogy’s existing Microsoft Teams enabled technology will be reused within meeting rooms in the new office space, making meetings easy and functional for employees
• Various kitchen equipment will be relocated to the first floor and gym equipment will be reused for employees to utilize at their leisure
• In 2021, Realogy’s facilities team hosted a chair raffle, during which one hundred inspected, disinfected, and wrapped office chairs that were not being utilized in the building were given away to employees

RECYCLE:
• Ceiling tiles from the previous space will either find a new spot within the new design, or be recycled
• Carpets were carefully ripped from the old space and sent to be recycled
• Based on a report done by Steelcase, Realogy’s furniture supplier, almost 200 thousand pounds of total recyclable content was purchased this year for use within the newly designed building
We created an entirely redesigned office that functions as a true innovation and collaboration hub, while also prioritizing sustainability.

Tom McGovern, Realogy Vice President, Corporate Real Estate
FROM OFFICE TO OPEN HOUSE
Our facilities team and expert coalition of vendors were happy to take on the challenge of creating an entirely redesigned office that functions as a true innovation and collaboration hub, while also prioritizing sustainability through the strategic design and recycling of our existing spaces. We have been eager since the first day of construction to open this space for our employees, both new and current, allowing them fresh perspective when they step through the doors.

Tom McGovern, Realogy Vice President, Corporate Real Estate

CONSCIENTIOUS CONSTRUCTION
Since the office has been on a limited-use basis beginning in March 2020, we believe reduced occupancy has contributed to:

ENERGY SAVED – approximately 35-40% energy savings by converting lights to motion sense, closing sun filtering shades in all windows, and adjusting HVAC settings to only be on a portion of the day

WASTE STREAM REDUCTION – over 85% reduction in waste streams

LESS POTABLE WATER – approximately 90% less potable water by closing fitness center, select restrooms, and cafeterias during construction period

Realogy’s headquarters building interior in Madison, N.J., is LEED Gold certified and has been since 2013. Additionally, the building’s exterior is LEED Silver certified by the Green Building Certification Institute.

In 2021, Realogy did not identify any non-compliance with environmental laws and/or regulations related to its business operations.
MEASURES THAT MINIMIZE:

Although our Madison, N.J. office is in the midst of transition, we are still dedicating efforts to reduce our impact:

- Honeybee Hive that supports local flora
- Electric vehicle charging stations in numerous locations in the parking lot
- LED lighting throughout facilities and parking area
- Bike racks, train-to-work shuttle service and dedicated parking section for carpooling
- Reducing snow and environmental maintenance energy and emissions by closing off two thirds of the parking lot during winter months
- Energy efficient faucets and bathroom facilities
- Daytime cleaning service to reduce energy cost and conserve resources
- Centralized trash collection which eliminated use of plastic liners
